Flying Club Asks Hangar Improvements

Permission Is Sought To Provide Rest Area For Visiting Pilots

A broad program for the improvement of facilities in Hangar 2 at the International Airport was presented to the Town Council Monday night by officials of the International Flying Club. Although the program was broad, its main objective according to the club, is to provide rest room facilities and a clean, lounge area for the increasing number of private pilots who are flying into the airport.

A prepared statement from the club was read by Council Chairman George E. McGillicuddy. It included several requests, some of which would mean an expenditure of Town funds. The statement was signed by club officers, Ken Larson, captain, Frank Whitlock, co-captain, and Ben Edwards, secretary. A delegation from the club was at the meeting to discuss the issues.

WANTS USE OF UPPER DECK
Briefly, the club wants permission to use the upper deck of the west bay in the hangar. They agreed to clean up the area and to furnish it with minimum needs. They also asked permission to set up a grill, coffee urn and a soft drink machine.

The flying club said it would install a space heater to heat the area, would staff the lounge on weekends when air traffic is at its busiest, and, if they could borrow a fire hose and hook up to the hydrant, they would flush out the main hangar.

The club also asked permission to sell or otherwise dispose of several years' accumulation of junk and other materials contained in the hangar.

In return, the club asked the Town to put present plumbing facilities into operation, and to assume responsibility for the repairs and maintenance of the building. This responsibility, the Council agreed, they already had, but had neither reason nor funds up to now to do much in the way of maintenance.

Arden Thompson, one of the flying club members at the meeting, said that as many as 75 to 100 private planes will come in and go out of the airport during a month. The number is increasing steadily, he said, since the airport has been declared a Port of Entry.

Mr. Thompson said that now nothing in the way of rest facilities are offered to these visiting pilots.

Upon a motion by Kendall R. Carson, the Council agreed to permit the use of the hydrant in a clean-up operation, but said more exact cost figures would be necessary before they could go much further. Of particular concern to the Council is the hangar roof. In hot weather, it was said, tar from the roof drops on the planes in the hangar, causing damage and inconvenience.

Tabulations Are In For McIntire's Poll
The returns to the questionnaire which I substituted for my Capitol Comments column of March 29 are now in, and the results are ready for publication. I have tabulated the answers according to percent, and the questions, together with their respective predominant percentage ratings, appear below. In case where the undecided factor is sufficiently great to indicate inadequate available information on an issue, I have included it in the results.

Of all the returned questionnaires, 26.03 per cent were accompanied by additional comments. Each and every one of your responses is sincerely appreciated. Their sum totals will help me as your Representative to vote more intelligently on the issues that come before me in the Congress, as well as give me an idea of the issues that you in Maine want covered more thoroughly from my vantage point here in Washington.

The co-operation of the newspapers in publishing my questionnaire has served as a vital catalyst in promoting a closer tie between the people and their Representative. In so doing, they have performed a very important service in keeping the electorate well informed. I also want to thank my constituents for taking the time and the interest to help me in this matter.

THE START OF SOMETHING NEW—Bernard Hannigan loads fertilizer into the sugar beet planter at the farm of Wilfred Donovan on the Ludlow road as the first step in an experimental program of planting 250 acres of sugar beets in Aroostook County. The planter, similar to those used for corn, drops the sugar beet seed in four rows at a time, at four-inch intervals. Five acres were planted Friday at the Donovan farm, and 11 other farmers in the Southern Aroostook area are planting similar acreages of sugar beets.

SUGAR BEET PLANTING—Bernard Hannigan is doing the planting of sugar beets in Southern Aroostook in the experimental program being conducted this summer. He is shown as he planted five acres at the Wilfred Donovan farm in Houlton Friday afternoon. These five acres were the first of 250 that will be planted throughout the County to see if the sugar beet can be raised successfully, and economically in this area. Harvesting time for the sugar beet crop, something entirely new for the County, will be late October. (Pioneer Times Photos)

Experimental Crop Of 250 Acres Planted

Harvesting Scheduled For Late In October; Quota In '66 Is Goal

The first five acres of sugar beets that will be planted in sugar beets this year, were put in at the Wilfred Donovan farm on the Ludlow road in Houlton Friday afternoon. The planting launched what could be a major step forward in crop diversification for this potato-dominated area.

This year's sugar beet crop is for experimental purposes only. It is necessary for the County to prove that it can grow sugar beets with a high sugar quantity. It is the general consensus that there should be no reason why Aroostook cannot raise sugar beets as well as any other part of the nation.

QUOTA AVAILABLE
If the experimental crop proves a success, then the County must wait hopefully that it will receive one of the two highly valued sugar beet quotas that are still open for 1966. There are 13 areas throughout the country competing for these two prized quotas.

The Donovan farm, where five acres are being planted, is one of a dozen in Southern Aroostook that is taking part in the program. Other farms in Central and Northern Aroostook are also putting in small five-acre plots. The farmers are contributing their land, and the expense of the planting, growing and harvesting is being handled by a special $60,000 fund that is being raised by various agencies.

The sugar beet is an entirely new crop for Aroostook. It is planted from a small seed, with the plants very similar to the machinery used. (Please Turn To Page Two)

61 - Mill Tax Rate Is Set By Council

Houlton's tax rate for the current year was set by the Town Council Monday night at 61 mills, a rise of three mills over the rate of 1962. The rise was the exact amount predicted by Town Manager Walter R. Benson prior to the annual town meeting last March.

Council Chairman George E. McGillicuddy said the 61 mill rate will allow for an overlay of $12,208.14. This is the amount that the rate should produce over the sum needed from taxation, $833,639.93.

VALUATIONS ARE DOWN
Assessed valuation on land and buildings with the Town was placed at $10,594,759.00, and assessed valuation of personal property is $3,271,577.00, for a total of $13,866,347. This figure is down slightly from the total valuations of last year, $13,910,720.00, with all but about $5,000 valuation decrease being in personal property.

Appropriations approved this year by the residents totaled $974,233.05. From this is subtracted expected revenues from other sources included are poll taxes of $4,869.

By dividing this amount by the total assessed valuation of the Town, the tax rate of 61 mills is achieved. The 61 mills represents $61 for each $1000 of assessed valuation.

LICENSES APPROVED
In other business during the regular meeting Monday night, the Council approved vitalizers licenses for F. W. Woolworth, Elmer Smith, Jean M. Larson for the Pizza Palace, and Vaughn Gallop. (Please Turn To Page Two)

Council Sets Town Meeting For June 11

Directors For School District To Be Chosen From Seven Candidates

Tuesday, June 12, is the date that has been set by the Town Council for a special town meeting at which time five directors to the new School Administrative District will be elected. The voters will also be asked to approve the purchase of the Watson Company property on Water street.

The date was set during a regular meeting of the Council Monday night at the Municipal Building. It was explained that the meeting had to be held prior to June 15, the final day in which the Town could exercise its option on the Watson property, and that the school officials had requested the meeting as soon as possible.

POLLS OPEN 7 TO 7
Voting on the district directors will be held from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m., the regular voting hours, and at the usual polling place in the Gentle Memorial Building. The town meeting itself will start at about 8 p. m., or as soon as the ballots from the election are tabulated.

The warrant for the town meeting has not yet been posted, and legally does not have to be until seven days prior to the meeting. Town Manager Walter R. Benson said today that he expects the warrant will be posted by the end of the week.

For insertion in the warrant is the Urban Renewal Authority. (Please Turn To Page Two)

Spud Diversion Program Seen As Effective

Price Remained High For Strip Stock Plan According To Council

Maine's potato diversion program for the past season has proven to be more effective than the diversion program of the previous marketing season. Arthur H. Thompson of Linneton, president of the Maine Potato Council, announced today that the committee comprising the two diversion programs had been sent to Don Nivoll, administrative assistant to Senator Edmund S. Muskie.

Mr. Thompson pointed out that last July Harold E. Bryant developed the idea of diverting on-off-ice and on-grade potatoes and contacted Senator Muskie's office in this regard. Last year when Maine potato growers were equally divided on the question of whether or not to request a diversion program from the USDA, the strip stock diversion. (Please Turn To Page Two)

Town Meeting

He did not know, however, what the article might contain.
Seven candidates have filed their nomination petitions for the school district election. Because it is the first time that Houlton has elected members to the district's board of directors, there are no incumbents. However, four of the candidates are currently serving on the Superintendent's School Committee. They are its chairman, Dean Ingraham, and members Palmer Swales, Gordon Hilder and David Gallison. The field of candidates also includes Mrs. Catherine Bell, Larry Reese and Milton Lambert Jr.
FIVE ALREADY ELECTED
The five successful candidates will join five other persons already elected to the board. Littleton and Monticello have each elected their two district directors, and Hammond had elected its lone member.

Terms of office will be determined after the board has been formed. Terms of each individual director will also be determined after the board is formed.
The Town will ask voters to authorize the borrowing of $7,000 for the purchase of the Watson Company property. This is the amount needed to meet the purchase price of $15,000. There is now $8,000 available in a special fund that can be used toward the price.
The land contains two old warehouses. It is expected that the buildings will be razed and the site used eventually for municipal parking.

Two bids for an estimated 70,000 gallons of tar for surfacing of Town streets were received, with the contract awarded to the low bidder, Barrett Division of Allied Chemical Corp. bid 1572 cents per gallon, and the Koppers Company entered a bid of 1659 per gallon. The bids were for tar of equal quality, and it was pointed out that for 70,000 gallons the savings with the low bid would be $669.00.
All seven members of the Council and Manager Benson were present at the meeting.

Sugar Beets

to plant corn. The seed is planted at four-inch intervals, and only about one-half inch deep. About six pounds of seed are needed for each acre. Also required for each acre is about 825 pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer.
PLOTS ARE SPRAYED
The test plots were sprayed with a weed killer that was borrowed into the ground before planting. Fields will be sprayed once or twice during the growing season, with the same fungicide that is used on potatoes. The sugar beet plants will also be thinned during the growing season.

Sugar beets require a 150-day growing season, considerably longer than that for potatoes. In contrast, Cabbagers need only about 110 days, and the Cabbager about 120 days. This means that the sugar beet crop will not be ready for harvesting until very late in October.
The sugar beet is a hardy crop, that performs well in a cool climate. The tops, which grow to heights of 20 inches and have a large leaf, are much more durable than potato tops. Normal frosts are not expected to cause any damage to the late-growing sugar beets.

SILVERLY WHITE

The sugar beet itself is silvery white, and is termed by the U.S. Beet Sugar Association as an enlarged root, one to two feet in length, with the upper part about four to six inches across. The root will extend some three to six feet into the ground.
The average sugar beet will weigh about two pounds, and will contain 15 per cent sugar stored as sucrose. This is equivalent to 14 teaspoons of pure white refined sugar.

The plant is a biennial, and blooms only in the second year. However, where the plants will be harvested each fall, there will probably be no blossoms.

20 TONS PER ACRE

Yield is expected at about 20 tons of sugar beets per acre. If the sugar content is 15 per cent, this would mean three tons of refined sugar per acre. Should Aroostook receive a quota in 1966, some 20,000 acres of sugar beets would be planted, and a refinery would be constructed.

The sugar beets are for commercial use only. They can serve as cattle feed.
None of this year's experimental crop will be refined. Tests will be made to determine yield figures, and sugar content, and a judgment will be made on how well the plant grows here.

Spud Diversion

plan was requested as a compromise measure.
PRICES HIGHER

Many growers felt that a whole stock diversion program would drive the fresh market price down to that of the diversion price. Mr. Bryant reported to Mr. Nicoll that while Maine diverted 8,646,000 fewer hundredweight of potatoes this year than last and while Maine produced approximately 2,000,000 more hundredweight for this season than last, the average price, based on Market News reports, has been 25 cents a hundredweight higher this season. Under the strip stock diversion program this season's market price didn't drop to the diversion price level.

Mr. Bryant indicated that while prices received for Maine potatoes were not satisfactory this season, the soundness of such a program as the strip stock diversion plan had been chosen.
The possibility of obtaining a second extension of Maine's strip stock diversion program for potatoes is extremely remote, according to Mr. Bryant.

FEDERAL PAYMENTS

The program provides Federal payments for the diversion of off-ize and off-grade potatoes to starch and livestock uses.
Mr. Bryant said that in April the Council was advised by United States Department of Agriculture officials that the program could not be continued beyond May 31. These same officials reaffirmed their position when contacted today, Bryant concluded.

Houlton AA Aims For Second Win

The Houlton A.A.'s baseball team under playing manager Gary Dwyer will play their second game of the season Sunday night at Rob Ruth Field starting at 8:15.

The Houlton team won their first game of the season Sunday by defeating Kingman, 14 to 4, at Rob Ruth Field.

Ladies Committees Named At Golf Club

The Houlton Community Golf Course recently announced the ladies committees for this season.

The general chairman is Nettie Crawford. Maria Putnam is treasurer and Madeline Hether will handle publicity.

The following ladies make up the match committees: Helen Atchison, Jean Rusan, Margaret Rhoda, Faye Albert, handicap and tournament committee, Doris Robbins, Frances Grant and Joan Butler.

Gladys Tarbell and Billie Peabody are in charge of the club suppers. The house committee is composed of Polly McKay, Mildred Moynihan, Anna Rogers, Barbara Pierce and Doris McKay.

Houlton Wins Twice With Power Hitting

Houlton High's baseball team recorded its third and fourth victories of the season this past week with a win over Presque Isle Thursday, 9-8, and a win over Washburn Friday, 10-2. The team now stands at four wins and two defeats.

The Shiretowners collected 14 hits, including a home run by Gerald Karnes, in posting their win at Presque Isle. John Sheels and Bobby Hunter added doubles to the Houlton cause. The Wildcats had nine hits, including a pair of home runs.

Hunter collected a home run and a double Friday as the Shiretowners easily turned back Washburn. Hamilton, Sheels, Riley and Gallop all had doubles during the extra base barrage. Washburn was held to just four hits, and committed six errors.

This year a new rule was put into effect by the Houlton officials which allows every youngster on a Little League team to play one full inning. This deserves a lot of credit. In time it will create better ball players.

The coaches deserve a lot of credit for the many hours that they will spend this summer drilling the members of their team in the proper way to play the game, but once again who is going to handle the many youngsters who don't make the teams.

It would be nice if enough coaches could be obtained to gather in all the youngsters and do like the big leagues do, have a farm team for all the different ten teams playing in the Houlton Little League program. The youngsters would be happy just to play a couple of times a week in the late afternoon.

These youngsters could be furnished with only hats with the name of the team they belong to. Each team now in Houlton's Little League carries a roster of 15 members. Why not have a team such as proposed carry a membership of 15 also? By doing this each team will have over 30 little leaguers at their command and each team will also have something to fall back on.

We know that there aren't too many coaches available for a program such as this in our area, but just stop and think it over. If you were a youngster again wouldn't you want someone to take an interest in your baseball abilities? This program will have to be handled by the present Little League officials if it grows, but this type of a program will take tears away from youngsters' eyes and replace them with a happy smile. This program would allow 300 youngsters a chance to play baseball instead of the present 150.

Short Sports
The Houlton Little Leaguers will open their season Monday night with both leagues seeing action. At present we have received no word on Babe Ruth baseball league this summer, and would appreciate any information available. Leo Crafts, president of Houlton's Little League, announced today that TAG DAY in the area will be held Friday, June 21. All Little Leaguers will be out that day selling tags to help defray some of the expenses involved in running the 10 teams in the circuit.

One of the highlights on the Fourth of July celebration in Houlton will be a softball game slated between the ladies of Monticello and Cary. The game is scheduled for the afternoon of the Fourth. This would also be an ideal chance for the people interested in pitching horseshoes to hold a one-day tournament at the park. This event could be held any time during the week long celebration. If enough interest is shown the sponsors of the Fourth program this year, the Houlton Jaycees, will help to promote the event for the angle iron throwers.

This past weekend this writer traveled to the southern part of the state. During the trip southward I counted over 10 dead cats, rabbits and other animals. This week the holiday season starts and many local readers will be traveling in many different directions. This summer let's make a special effort on the roads and give the little animals a brake when we see them.

Ricker collected 28 hits, scored 26 runs, drew 12 walks, were safe on errors 20 times and left 26 men on base. Five pitchers yielded 21 hits, 34 runs and 25 walks. They struck out 21 batters and had nine errors committed behind them.

Highlights In Sports

by Larry Reece

In this week's issue of the Pioneer Times you will see the names of the youngsters who will play Little League baseball in Houlton this summer, but you don't see the names of the youngsters who tried out and were not good enough in the eyes of the coaches to make their team.

This writer doesn't want to find fault with the Little League program. If anything is to be said by the writer concerning the program it would be only praise for the officials, coaches and others connected with it.

The point that I would like to mention is the way these little sluggers or baseballers love the game and how hard they try when the annual tryouts are held each year at the Little League diamonds in Community Park. Some come because their chums or friends go, others because they want a chance to play under proper supervision. Others travel to the tryouts in hopes that someone might give them a chance to play, because they don't have a yard, glove or baseball to play with.

These youngsters are sensitive in a matter such as this. If they play with a friend of theirs and he is selected they can't see any reason why they shouldn't be chosen also, where they both play baseball together.

This year a new rule was put into effect by the Houlton officials which allows every youngster on a Little League team to play one full inning. This deserves a lot of credit. In time it will create better ball players.

The coaches deserve a lot of credit for the many hours that they will spend this summer drilling the members of their team in the proper way to play the game, but once again who is going to handle the many youngsters who don't make the teams.

READY FOR STATE MEET—Bill Gormley (far right) and Lawrence Brown, members of the Houlton High track team, worked out under the eyes of their coaches Tuesday afternoon as they limbered up for the State Class L track meet this Saturday at Portland Stadium. Brown, a sophomore, won the half-mile and mile runs last Saturday in the County meet at Presque Isle, while Gormley, a junior, placed second in the two-mile run. They will be the only two from Houlton High at the State meet. Holding the starter's gun is Coach Bud Anderson, and with him is Coach Dave Smith. (Pioneer Times Photo)

SEVIN[®]
INSECTICIDE

DRAWS THE LINE AGAINST DESTRUCTIVE POTATO INSECTS—RESISTANT OR NOT!

SEVIN is a registered trade mark of Union Carbide Corporation.

Resistant flea beetle and Colorado potato beetle have become two of the worst insect pests of potatoes in many areas. SEVIN insecticide continues to provide excellent control of these beetles—resistant or not.

SEVIN also controls many other destructive potato insects, including leafhoppers, European corn borer, Lygus bugs, fall armyworms and stink bugs, as well as corn earworm and hornworms. And SEVIN gives potato growers other important benefits.

SEVIN is safer to humans than many other insecticides. Spray men do not need special protective clothing. Yet the long-lasting residue of SEVIN maintains insect control for a long time, even in the hottest weather.

SEVIN reduces drift hazards to a minimum, even where potatoes are grown next to livestock pastures or forage crops, or near farm ponds. When label directions for use of SEVIN are followed, the residue of the insecticide does not show up in the milk or meat of animals eating forage or crop products that have been sprayed, or on which residue has drifted.

Because SEVIN can be used on more than 85 other crops, including many vegetables, drift to these crops, too, is no problem. This is especially true because SEVIN may be applied the day of harvest on potatoes, sweet corn, cucumbers, squash, melons, beans and blueberries. On cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, broccoli and cabbage, SEVIN may be used 3 days before harvest. When insects attack your potatoes and other crops—Sack 'em with SEVIN!

This is the year to use SEVIN for potato and vegetable insect control. See your supplier for SEVIN. Or write now for information to Union Carbide Chemicals Company, Division of Union Carbide Corporation, 270 Park Ave., New York 17, N.Y.

Memorial Day

A day for remembering. For remembering with tenderness and thankfulness those departed heroes whose sacrifices of life itself were made with the exalted motive of preserving the national security of this country for their fellow citizens.

A day for remembering. For remembering loved ones who have gone to their reward, and for keeping alive and fresh the memories of other days and other happy hours.

It is an altogether fitting gesture of respect and endearment that the people of this nation undertake to pay to their affectionately remembered dear ones. There is something akin to a spiritual expression in the observance of the day; a reaffirmation of faith in mankind and in the destiny of our country.

It is physically refreshing and spiritually invigorating to take part in the simple but sincere exercises of remembrance on this day and to contribute one's personal tribute and salute to those who are with us to the end of our days, in spirit.

Memorial Day, it seems to us, is a day set apart in time when families shall devote loving care and attention to the landscaping of cemetery lots, of decorating graves with flowers and plants and otherwise lavishing attention on the memory of departed loved ones.

It is a time when the veterans organizations set aside to hold exercises commemorating their absent buddies and of reawakening the interest of others in the significance of the holiday.

There is speech making and marching and dedications and rededications as war veterans join hands together beneath the Flag of our country to think for a while of those with whom they were once joined in the common cause of projecting this nation from the peril of those enemies who espouse an odious doctrine and who fight under an ideology foreign to our own.

Taken altogether, Memorial Day is a wonderful day in the living of a year in these United States. That it is also a day for a holiday, for fishing, for vacationing, for camping, or just plain old-fashioned rest, is an incidental by-product that interferes not a whit with the more sacred aspects of the occasion.

Not So Sweet

(Christian Science Monitor)

What is the United States doing about Cuba?

There is sugar, for one thing. This year's crop is expected to be one-half of normal. The Cuban total averaged 6 million tons from 1957 through 1961. Last year it fell to 4.8 million tons and this year it is likely to be a little below 3 million. This is described as "a decline far greater than even opponents of the Castro regime expected."

Premier Castro is in debt to Moscow and Peking to the tune of 4.86 million tons of sugar a year. He can barely pay it with 3 million. The debt will have to be scaled down drastically and Cuba will have little sugar for itself.

Why?

Because the United States bans export of refining machinery. It is reported that "at least eight of Cuba's 161 government-run sugar mills have been dismantled to provide spare parts for the rest." Fertilizer is likewise short in Cuba, also sugar bags. There are other unsettling factors such as labor shortage due to conscription and low wages.

The existing boycott is biting. There will be more bite as the OAS comes to support wider measures. Castro communism is not having an easy time of it.

Let's See The Price

(Daily Kennebec Journal)

A price tag ought to be affixed to every bill introduced in Congress, says Republican Rep. Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire.

Gone Fishing

Psychologists tell us that men and women have basically different reactions to certain activities. This is not news to men who are blessed with a wife and daughters. A man learns early that his approach to certain situations and that of his women folks is fundamentally different.

Fishing is an apt illustration. A man knows that fishing is essential to his well being. He feels justified in expending capital resources for rods and reels and other accoutrements. As he gets out his equipment and prepares it, the remarks he hears concerning the cost per pound of fish do not discourage him.

The point is that a man who enjoys fishing knows that fish prices are a side issue. Of course, a man is not disappointed when he brings home a good catch. Women folks think a man should always catch fish when he goes fishing.

A man knows that fishing is much more. It is the chance to get off by himself beside a singing brook or on a peaceful woodland pond. It is the feel of warm sun on the back of one's neck and the whisper of a south breeze. Fishing means time to sit by a creek and watch the waters pour by on their way to the sea. It is the chance to listen to bird calls from meadow and woodland, and to hear Nature's music instead of the cacophony of the marketplace.

We do not know why some men like to fish and others prefer a different form of recreation. That is not important. A man must march his trail according to the drum beat he hears. But those men who feel the call when spring is here, know that when they go fishing they always have good luck. A day in the open with the sun and the wind brings something that they cannot find elsewhere. They agree with Izaak Walton who said, "I have laid aside business and gone fishing."

THERE IF HE NEEDS IT

Washington Highlights

By Ray Vernon

The whole story isn't out but there is a lot of back-biting and infighting going on in the national space program.

It may be the real story of what is going on will never hit the front page.

In a nutshell it is this: the astronauts are mighty unhappy with the way things are going and they'd like to tell all. But they can't and won't.

Mercury Is Dead

As far as matters now stand Project Mercury is a thing of the past. Finished. Dead.

This is the series of space flights that began with Alan Shepard and ended with Gordon Cooper's spectacular 22 orbits around the earth.

The next project is Gemini and that is when we start sending two men in orbit. But the first shot is at least 18 months off and since anything can go wrong we might just as well be prepared for a two year wait before we launch another man into space.

Behind the scenes the astronauts are boiling mad over this decision. They want to schedule more one-man flights but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has given a flat no.

The astronauts are peeved for several reasons.

For one thing they want to give their buddy, Alan Shepard, one of those thrilling rides around the globe. While he was the first astronaut his journey into space was tame by comparison with the others — a 300-mile trip down-range from Cape Canaveral.

But more than that is involved.

There is a genuine fear that Americans, with short memories, will forget all about the space program is nothing spectacular happens over a two-year period. And the rest of the world will forget just as fast.

Money is another big consideration. Congress right now is debating whether to approve a space budget of almost $6 billion for the next fiscal year.

If Congress had voted the day Cooper landed on his Pacific bullseye the budget would have sailed through handily. With every day of week that passes the American people are less and less inclined to plunk down this kind of money.

These space shots run into big dough, about $10 million a shot.

So even though the astronauts want to hit the heavenly trail a few more times there is a lot of resistance to spending this much money.

While Cooper was having a medal pinned on his chest by President Kennedy in the White House Rose Garden the other day some of his fellow astronauts were maneuvering behind the scenes.

Lobbying

Astronauts

They had an opportunity to mingle privately with some of the key figures on Capitol Hill and from all reports they did an expert job of lobbying their cause.

Later in the day, they attended a cocktail party at the White House and are said to have raised the issue with the President himself.

At his press conference last week the President dropped a hint that he had been approached by the astronauts but he wouldn't commit himself on the subject.

All Mr. Kennedy will say is that any decision to go ahead with another one-man space shot will be made by space officials and not by him.

Wrong Guess

It can be reported here that the White House definitely under-estimated the enthusiasm generated by the Cooper flight. Many top officials were convinced the American public has become accustomed to these orbital missions and were losing interest. They couldn't have been more wrong.

At first it was to be a simple ceremony for Cooper in the President's office. But when they discovered the big reception he got in Hawaii and again at Cape Canaveral the plans were suddenly changed.

The White House Ceremony was moved into the Rose Garden. A parade up Pennsylvania Avenue was hastily put together. And the stage was set for Cooper's appearance before a joint session of Congress.

The astronauts are their own best press agent. Maybe they'll win their battle after all.

Capitol Report

Weekly Letter from Augusta

Special From The Enterprise
AUGUSTA — In the various inconsistencies of a legislator's life, the status of the boat in the State of Maine should give all citizens pause, for right now it is one of the worst tangles in our affairs. The present session has several boating bills in, and some legislators don't feel any of them are what we need and want.

Senator Hollis Wyman, for instance, says the best thing to do is shunt the subject onto a special interim committee and let them come in two years from now with a suggestion. In some ways, this is like asking the firemen to talk things over at length before they respond to the alarm.

Interest Is Great

Although not too much is heard from them, there are several militant groups in the State mighty interested in this topic. There is a boat-owners association, a dealer's association, and a marina association. Then there are the sportmen's associations, local chambers of commerce, and numerous others with a direct or indirect concern over boats and boating.

Yet, you'd think some of the legislators never heard of a boat.

With an ingrown disposition to tax anything at all, some legislators view the subject in its narrowest aspect. They don't seem to realize that boating is an adjunct of the tourist and recreation business, and that times have changed.

In the first place, the State does the same thing as absolutely nothing for boaters. Here and there some slight effort may be going on to oblige and accommodate boaters, but it is not done in the sense that Maine, a vacation state, has an obligation as a host.

Take the Coast Guard, for instance. They have salt water rules which boaters must obey. But the Coast Guard puts up markers, does patrol work, and serves the customers. The plea has been made, in respect to inland boats, that the regulations on them be identical with Coast Guard rules. This is simply because today's boat is maneuverable, and may be on Sebago today and in Muscongus Bay tomorrow. Why not?

The taxing of boats is a ridiculous premise. Tax assessors are not skilled yet in this, and there is no handy rule. To say that a boat is taxed by length would make a 20-foot canoe the same as a fiberglass beauty with twin engines, if it's 20-feet long. There is no simple aging formula, as with automobiles, which says a car depreciates so much in such and-such a time. When perhaps Somerville would have a sensible taxing plan, locally administered by boat-wise assessors, would you find that same knowledge in an inland town?

Then there is competition. If Maine taxes boats too heavily, boats will perhaps go to states that don't, such as New Hampshire. Take trailers — Maine taxes the trailers, New Hampshire doesn't.

Boats Here In Numbers

What is going over the heads of the legislators, evidently, like an astronaut, is the simple fact that boats are here in tremendous numbers, that they are on the highways as much as in the water, and that they are a part of the whole Vacationland picture to a degree that simply cannot wait another two years.

Should the Fish and Game warden handle boats? Should there be any taxes on them at all? How can service to boaters be made a sound reason for taxing them? Do we need a marina commissioner, or something? Are we going to do anything for boats except tax them, and then gum up the lives of the boat owners?

So This Is New York

By North Callahan

In Philadelphia on a recent visit, I sat in one of the seats in the restored building of our first national House of Representatives. It was with a feeling of reverence that I tried to imagine what founding father might have occupied that particular chair; and a comparison with our modern Congressmen brought mixed feelings.

But some of them in that early day were of the rip-roaring type. In my research on Daniel Morgan, I found that when he was in Congress in 1799, two of the members got into a fight, one spat on the other who returned the compliment by hanging his opponent over the head with a pair of fire tongs.

Carried Pistols

Members used to carry pistols as they went about their official duties, others threw cuspidors during the heated debates in the late 19th century.

Prior to that, Congressman Preston Brooks of South Carolina helped to bring on the Civil War Between the States by beating Senator Charles Sumner of Massachusetts over the head with a cane until he was senseless, because of an insult. Maybe we have more peace today than we realize.

Speaking of the circus, it is not all under one tent. Over at the Palisades Amusement Park is a black and white steer with two heads. P.T. Barnum would have loved to get his exploiting hands on him. This Holstein-Jersey is three years old and full grown, eats with two mouths, breathes with four nostrils, but has only two horns and three eyes. Raised near San Antonio, Texas, the state of unusual things anyway, the gentle steer is valued at $50,000. It is named, "John Henry".

Sitting on a park bench for a few minutes, I noticed that a shabby man on the other end of the bench acted strangely. He pretended to be reading a newspaper, then would furtively take a bottle from his pocket and drink from it. On the bottle was worded which I was to remember. It apparently designated the same brand of wood alcohol of which in a few days we were to hear no more — for its killing of New York bums.

Remembering now the poor fellow's wry face, his sneaky actions and his air of utter despair, I cannot help but wonder why he would do so, especially if he were one of those to whom the poisoned drink proved fatal.

Teacher do not make much money — although their salaries are better than they were — but in the college field, particularly, there are some fringe benefits not too generally known. A partial list of some of these, it is learned, includes membership in the local country club, free hot breakfasts, free lunches, burial plots, subsidized laundry, discounts on purchase of milk, rugs, furniture and appliances, free baby-sitting, use of a ski lodge and rope tow, hanging of screen and storm windows and choice of dahlia bulbs.

Popular Blade

Here and There: A certain make razor blade imported from England has taken this section by tonsorial storm. The long-lasting blades are snapped up as soon as they arrive in local stores . . . Louis, the barber, leaned back comfortably on his ripple-soled shoes and opined that violence by students as well as adults is not the right way to achieve civil rights or any other kind . . . a man who had parked in front of a driveway found a note on his car, "We look forward to being of service to you." The note was written on a funeral parlor's letterhead . . . a store proprietor took out fire insurance at noon and there was a fire at 3:30 p.m. He received a query from the insurance company, stating "Will you kindly explain the delay?"

Chicken A La Kiltie

Kiltie was a brindle Scottish terrier and for 13 years she was the important member of the family. If you love dogs, you know how we felt when the time came to put her to sleep.

Kiltie was a determined little lady, and I understand that is a typical trait of the Scots. For that matter, I have been told by the lady who looks after me, that a Pearson may lack certain traits but he does have persistence.

We have many memories of Kiltie but one that always gives me a smile is the time we were visiting in Sawyersville, Quebec, at Blanche's folks' farm. They had a bantam hen which had some baby chicks. One day Kiltie was innocently investigating the chicks; the bantam mother took after Kiltie. Kiltie turned tail and fled and when she came up to us, you could read astonishment in her eyes.

This is one of our favorite and easy chicken dishes. Use a two and a half to three pound chicken cut in serving pieces, one can cream of chicken soup, one can cream of mushroom soup, one half cup milk, a sprinkling of curry powder.

Clean, wash and wipe chicken pieces and arrange in casserole. Blend the soups and the milk and pour over the chicken. Sprinkle with curry powder, using little or much, depending on the family's taste.

Bake closely covered at 350 for about one hour or until chicken is thoroughly cooked.

Sunday Sermon

"I am the door: by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

Dr. H. A. Ironside once told the story of a young man who often listened to a great Scotch preacher and wanted to be saved. He had a longing in his heart to know Christ as his deliverer and to know the blessedness of God's salvation; although he wept and prayed and sought, he could get no sense of forgiveness, no assurance that he was received by God.

One night the minister preached on the words, "I am the door: by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved" and he showed that "any man" took in poor sinners, no matter how vile, how wicked, how corrupt they were.

As he preached, he could see the cloud lift from this young man's face. At the close of the meeting, he came to the front and said, "I got in tonight."

"What do you mean?" asked the preacher.

"Why, I got in at the open door tonight while you were preaching."

Jesus is the door, the gate as Matthew 7:13-14 shows. "Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat."

"Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

Seek ye Jesus Christ the only true door. — The Rev. Charles H. R. Fore, pastor of Hodgdon and Cary United Baptist Churches.

Poet's Corner

Promoted

When my days on this good earth are over
And I've climbed up that Golden Stair,
I'll have left all my worries behind me
For there's nothing of that kind up there.

I'll be sad for the folks that I'm leaving
And I'll miss all the ones that I love,
But it could be that I'm needed elsewhere
(I sure hope it's way up above!)

They just might have a need for a poet;
At least, I'm sure hoping they do
For when that roll is called way up yonder
I want my name on it too.

So don't say that I'm — or departed,

That pleasure from you I must rob
Just say that I'm no longer with you,
Say I found me a much better job.

Anne Bailey

The Busiest Guy In Houlton
The snows have now receded
And the streets are more like bogs;
They're full of ruts and pot-holes,
And the town is full of dogs.

But the surest sign of summer
In this town so green and fair,
Is now they're digging now holes
While the old ones are still there.

I sometimes meekly wonder —
For I must admit I'm vexed —
If this town has hired a Planner
Of the Street: We'll Dig Up Next.

Bob's Texaco Station Is Ready To Put Your Car In Condition For Safe, Dependable Summer Driving

With warm, summer weather rapidly approaching, many of us are planning weekend auto trips, or vacations on which a lot of driving will be done. A bit of sound advice would be to make certain that your car is ready for all the driving you may be planning. And another bit of equally sound advice would be to trust your car to the man who wears the star. The Texaco Star, that is.

The man to trust your car to in Houlton is Bob Suttler, owner and operator of Bob's Texaco Station, located at 152 Main street, at the junction with Military street.

Does Engine Work
Bob's Texaco is prepared to do all of your engine work, whether it be changing a spark plug or a complete motor job. He also does brake, transmission and other general repair work.

With more than 10 years of servicing cars in the Houlton area behind him, Bob is known for dependable workmanship and the reliable products that have made Texaco a respected and famous name.

If you have been neglectful and not had a Spring check-up for your car, remember that Bob's Texaco has the facilities, materials and personnel to do a quick and efficient job for you. And it is important that your car be made ready for the warm-weather driving that is ahead.

Experienced Personnel
The experienced people at Bob's Texaco will completely check out your automobile, and when they have given you their okay to go, you can rest assured that everything is indeed all right.

And to top off all this service, might we suggest that you also have your car washed at Bob's, so that it will look its best as well as run its best.

Because best laid plans do not always materialize, Bob's also offers you help when your car or truck gives you trouble. If your trouble occurs during normal business hours, just call the service station at 2-7901. However, if you have car trouble during the "off hours", call Bob personally at 2-2160. The service truck of Bob's Texaco is available for 24-hour towing service.

Bob's Texaco Station is located at 152 Main Street, Houlton, Maine. Tel. 2-7901. However, if you have car trouble during the "off hours", call Bob personally at 2-2160. The service truck of Bob's Texaco is available for 24-hour towing service.

Avoid Trouble

But, as we have indicated, the best way to avoid car troubles is to trust your car to the man who wears the Texaco Star. Bring your car or truck to Bob's before trouble arises, and let him keep it in top running condition for you.

Texaco products and Texaco service, plus the added feature of United Stamps that are offered at Bob's Texaco at the junction of Main and Military streets, can be your key to a whole summer of carefree motoring.

TIPS from Ruth

Agent

If you are thinking of buying a new blanket during the summer sales, here's some information that may prove useful.

Textile researchers at the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment who recently tested blankets composed entirely or in part of wool, acrylic, rayon, or nylon fibers — found that blankets made of just one fiber were generally better than those made of fiber blends.

All wool blankets ranked highest in warmth. After repeated launderings, wool blankets retained their thickness better than any of the other fibers.

The rayon blends were soft and fluffy when new, but reacted poorly to laundering and were highly flammable.

Washing in an automatic washer, the researchers found, was satisfactory for all blanket types if the recommended washing procedures were followed. Read your instruction book before washing blankets.

Today's market offers the consumer an extensive selection of blankets. Fiber content varies considerably. A good blanket should be warm, attractive, lightweight and durable. Most blankets are finished with acetate or nylon satin binding of matching color. Check quality and type of binding. Nylon will probably wear better than other types.

When shopping for blankets, read the label. Hold the blanket unfolded to the light. Note if nap is even and the weave regular and close. Blankets with long, fluffy nap are warm but pickup the nap
— if it pulls out easily, the blanket will not wear well.

Choose a blanket that is long enough to tuck in at the foot of the bed and still reach halfway under the pillow. A blanket 80 inches in length will give you a minimum tuckin; one 90 inches long will give a good tuckin.

Cool Playroom For Teenagers Has Attraction

A playroom can be a big help in keeping teenagers off the streets, many families have found. It doesn't have to be fancy, either. In fact, the more casual and functional playroom furnishings are the better.

A phonograph is standard equipment in most playrooms, but a television set, snack bar and table tennis are others popular items.

Although a playroom can be enjoyed all year long, many parents feel it's particularly important in summer when school is out and the youngsters have time on their hands. At this time of year, a play-room's attractiveness can be doubled if it's equipped with an electric room air conditioner.

Modern room air conditioners are designed to provide cool, filtered air as well as to maintain a comfortable humidity by removing excess moisture from the air.

Parents will enjoy an air-conditioned playroom, too. It's ideal for informal entertaining throughout the year. In the summer it's cool, and in winter the room air conditioner removes stale, smoke-filled air and replaces it with filtered fresh air. This is done by the exhaust fan without using the cooling system.

TALLER ROOM

Vertical wood wall paneling installed with a V-groove pattern will make a room look taller. Use a popular wood like Douglas fir, which is available any place in the country, for best results.

INFORMAL DESIGN FOR FUN — A gay, informal effect is created in this interesting basement playroom through the carefully planned use of color and ingenious ideas. The walls are sheathed in plywood plank with practical built-in storage space and twin recessed stereo and study nooks enclosed by louvre folding doors. The rich wood tones of the colonial furniture in maple and the floor of cork-toned vinyl asbestos tile add warmth and beauty to the setting. Stacking stools afford informal seating.

Repair And Maintenance Save Homeowner Money

No one operates a car without frequent oil changes, greasing and motor tune up, yet many people live in a home year after year without spending one cent for upkeep or maintenance.

This year has been set aside as official Home Remodeling Year.
So, right now is an excellent time to check over your home from cellar to attic and mark down every place that needs repair. If it would help any, you can make up your own check list.

The best thing to do is to check each room separately. Note down the rooms which need painting, or whose floors should be refinished.
Check the windows for leaks.

If you're tired of your family room, or any room in the house, for that matter, consider a low cost wall paneling which will give the room a completely new appearance.

You can have a solid wood paneling installed in any of several patterns which will give your room new character, charm and appeal. Light toned woods are very popular. They can be easily finished with a clear sealer and clear plastic surfacing to retain the warm beige or champagne tones of the wood.

You can do this room refinishing or modernizing yourself or you can have a good cabinet-maker or carpenter do the work.
If you are working over old plaster, better install some one-by-three inch boards, horizontally along the wall at two foot spacings nailed to the studs. Then you can install your panel boards before they nail them in place.
This way, you can do the work of hand sanding and rubbing while the board is flat.

Be sure to check the outside of your home, starting with the roof. Mark leaks for patching.
Check gutters. Wood gutters wear for many years and they won't rust, but they should be red leaded inside and painted outside occasionally.

Next check all around the exterior walls of the home. Mark siding boards that need repair or nailing down. Check around windows; if there are leaks you may have to caulk the joints.

A dollar spent in preventative maintenance on a home will save many dollars in the long run.

Dinning Rooms Making Return In New Houses

The dining room is definitely back. We have the word of a major national magazine, which keeps tabs on such trends.

The dining room no longer will be a mere adjunct of the kitchen, where formal dining is almost impossible. It will be a separate, distinctive room, with the functional requirements associated with a room devoted to the eating of food.

In other words, says one leading architect, the dining room will be large enough for a family and its guests. It will have character and personality in keeping with the family.

By long odds the most desired finish will be the wood-paneled room with the most popular being the attractive and friendly softer tones of the western soft-woods, such as west coast hemlock and Douglas fir.

These woods have the added advantage of serving not only as wonderfully lovely paneling, but a paneled wall can be fitted to form a door to a concealed china and silver buffet. By this means the clutter of extra furniture can be removed and the old time china cabinet or dish cupboard can be concealed in an attractive wall niche with the paneled doors designed so cleverly they are not visible when they are closed.

Some dining rooms have a full wall of glass exposed to the outdoors, and this arrangement works well with the three wood paneled walls. The real trick is to make this room a warm and friendly place where the family will enjoy gathering and nothing develops this friendly feeling so quickly as carefully selected and finished wood.

Tips On Buying House Built For Easy Upkeep

Trying to make sure in advance that home upkeep costs won't be sky high is one of the biggest concerns of most homeowners-to-be when they consider buying an older house. Many home-seekers are investigating the factors that govern upkeep costs as thoroughly as they look into the home's location and whether it has enough living and storage space, reports the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Here is a basic checklist from the Bureau to help house-hunting families look for clues that could indicate a need for extensive repairs and maintenance in an older home they are thinking of buying. Start with the outside of the house. Check for broken or rotting boards that would have to be replaced, or soft masonry that would require patching. On brick or masonry, look for cracks or crumbling. Peeling paint may be needed if paint is flaking and peeling. And if the rain gutters are rusty or split, they may have to be replaced.

Doors, Windows
Next open and close doors and windows to be sure they don't stick or aren't warped. If there are wide cracks around them, weather stripping may have to be put on to provide proper insulation.

Floors should be level and should not have serious surface defects. A floor that is "springy" when walked on probably needs repair. However, the surface is worn or marred at the floor is soundly constructed, a beautiful new surface can be provided at low cost by installing a modern easy-to-clean covering right over the old floor covering. This can easily be done by the new homeowner and should be completed before the family moves in. Plaster walls should be checked for large cracks which need repair. The walls may also require repainting or repapering if nails in panel wall boards have backed out, repair is usually easy and inexpensive.

Is Basement Damp?
Look at basement walls and floors for water stains and see if wood rafters are moldy. These are signs of dampness, an undesirable condition that might prohibit use of the basement for recreation and storage unless costly water-proofing is done.

While in the basement, especially in very old homes, check the fuse box. If it isn't fused for at least 100 amps, extensive electrical work may be necessary. You can have an electrician come in for a close look if you feel wiring may be inadequate, and a heating contractor can be called in to check over the furnace. Find out the age of the furnace and ask the present owner to turn it on so you can listen for excessive noise.

Turn on several faucets at once and see if the water flow diminishes. If it does, water pressure in the house may be inadequate. Make sure the water heater is automatic and have a plumbing contractor examine it to make sure it's working properly. At the same time, he can check pipes and other fixtures.

Home Supermarkets Offer Fresh Food At Fingertips

Variety is the keystone of this year's electric refrigerator-freezers. There's a variety in size, style, interior arrangement of storage space and exterior finishes.

There's a 1963 electric refrigerator-freezer to suit every newlywed, large family, retired couple, bachelor, or bachelorette among the estimated 3,875,000 units to be shipped by the manufacturers this year.

Some of the new ones have extra-large vertical freezer and refrigerator sections side by side, while other models have roomy, zero-zone freezer sections either above or below the refrigerator sections. Inside all of them there's plenty of storage space, with even the doors lined with shelves for containers large and small.

More efficient, thinner insulation has added storage space inside the new units without increasing outside measurements. Doors may be right or left hinged and are mounted for easy clearance so no space is needed between the unit and a side wall. Backs also fit snugly against the wall.

As for ice cubes, you can have them any way you want. Automatic ice makers, roomy ice storage bins, self-filling ice trays, and standard ice trays that can be emptied at the flick of the hand are available in various models. In some, ice cubes are "dried" so they don't stick together.

Many sections feature large cheese compartments, racks for as many as two dozen eggs, and butter conditioners which keep butter soft and spreadable, medium, or hard. Double and single crispers keep a bushel or so of fresh fruits, vegetables and salad greens market-fresh for a week at a time. Specially cooled meat compartments keep even hamburgers and specially meats fresh for days on end, and zero-zone freezer sections hold many pounds of food, either home-cooked or commercially prepared, at top quality for months.

Refrigerator shelves, meat containers, crispers, and freezer baskets and shelves glide or swing out for easy access to contents. In some models, swing-around shelves in the refrigerator section not only revolve within the unit, but can also be taken out and used as serving trays. Many shelves are adjustable vertically to accommodate odd-shaped packages.

The bugaboo of defrosting can be a thing of the past if you choose. In some electric refrigerator-freezers frost never forms at all. Others defrost automatically, and still others require only the flick of a switch for defrosting. With no frost in either the refrigerator or freezer section, labels on frozen food packages can always be read, the containers never stick together, and frost never steals storage space.

New designs and exterior finishes make the 1963 electric refrigerator-freezers attractive as well as efficient. Exteriors may be white, pastel yellow, pink or aqua, or copper-tone. Some have optional panels custom-matched to your kitchen.

Like a supermarket in the kitchen, the new electric refrigerator-freezers will save time and shopping trips and will keep fresh foods at your fingertips.

Smart Shoppers Follow The Ads And Save Money

Smart shoppers look for supermarket specials, make room at home to store them, keep menus flexible enough to use them, and stay posted on the items that are featured oftenest.

This advice comes from a study done recently by Stanford University on the percentage savings possible through buying "specials" when shopping at supermarkets.

By following the advice of the Stanford marketing specialists, you can average savings of 20 per cent over non-specials, and trim your food bills as much as 10 per cent. This means studying the supermarket ads in Thursday's papers, according to Family Circle Magazine, which is doing a series of articles based on both the Stanford report and suggestions made by the Consumer Advisory Committee of the National Association of Food Chains.

It also means having an electric refrigerator-freezer large enough to hold your weekly purchases of bargain-priced fresh and frozen foods, plus ample storage space for food which doesn't need refrigeration.

Today's electric refrigerator-freezer, often called a "supermarket in the kitchen," provides much more storage space than a unit only five or six years old, thanks to more efficient insulation which allows thin walls. The new electric refrigerator-freezers also protect food quality far better than older units because of new interior designs and specially cooled and humidified compartments for meat, dairy products and greens.

Generous zero-zone freezer sections can be used to store bargain-priced frozen foods or to freeze and store fresh fruits, vegetables, and meat bought at low prices during peak seasons of production.

USE COLOR

Good use of color in your home adds a needed spark to faded feelings. Use color in your wood kitchen cabinets to sparkle up your cooking area. Add a bit of color to wooden book shelves and elsewhere around the home. Just an accent bit of color will do the job.

To remove grime and stains from rubber sink and stove mats, soak them in bleach water for several hours.

Children Need 3-In-1 Room For Activities

As youngsters grow older, their hobbies and interests change. And so do their needs for living space. Homemakers can keep pace with these changes by converting their children's bedrooms into 3-in-1 activity centers that serve as bedroom, party room and general fun room.

Besides meeting the needs of the child, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information, the smart activity center is designed to provide a substitute for living room and family room, thus keeping the rest of the house quiet and less cluttered.

Start With Floor

Because the floor design determines the overall decorating scheme, it's wise to start there. Excellent choices that meet scuffs and stains such as vinyl, linoleum, tile or stone are ideal when the room must be kept clean. They can be changed to any color and pattern at a later date.

A charming 3-in-1 room can easily be created with today's modern beds or sofas that are a marketplace of sorts that will hold any amount of furniture. A bed or sofa is ideal for a child's room. And in a small room, a child's bed can be used as a sofa for guests. A bed or sofa can be used as a daybed for guests. A bed or sofa can be used as a daybed for guests.

Trundle Beds

Next, select furniture and accessories that are in line with the colors in the floor. Trundle beds, with one short-legged bed fitting under a standard-height bed when not in use, are an excellent choice. They can double as daytime seats when the youngsters entertain.

Washable draperies come in a wide range of colors and prints for window accents. Install scratch-resistant composition tops on work tables and desks, and add storage chests and built-ins for the youngsters' clothing and hobby materials.

A half-oval table for snacks that can also be used for model building or games will save space if it is hinged to the wall so it can be folded back and hooked when not in use. A radio, hi-fi or an extra television set often can be built into a storage wall to provide restful entertainment.

Your dinner guests will appreciate your fine table linens more if you served one course on a glass dinner plate.

COLOR AND SOUND

Shika spruce, one of the world's strongest woods, is widely used for piano sounding boards. Care is taken in selection of the wood for each edge-glued sounding board so that the vibrations of the wood matches to make a perfect tone.

NEW VARNISH

A new, almost indestructible varnish is proof, wind, water and weather-resistant and will not fade in the sun. It gives new protection for use of woods for exterior siding, as well as for interior uses where wear is important.

UP DATING

The home modernizing market is expected to show strong gains in 1969, with emphasis on additions, adding rooms built of wood rank high on lists.
